

Workday: Highest Performing Vendor in the KLAS “ERP 2019 Performance in the Cloud” Report

Overall Score vs. Product Score

¹Product scores are based on customer ratings for the following standard KLAS product metrics: quality, functionality, integration goal support, and ability to deliver new technology.

What is the ERP cloud report?

- The report tabulates survey data from healthcare providers that are live on ERP cloud solutions.

When healthcare providers search for the best in their technology solutions, they look to KLAS ratings—the standard by which thousands of healthcare provider organizations evaluate vendor performance. Workday is proud to have been named best overall performance in the “ERP 2019 Performance in the Cloud” report, and continues to invest in the areas that matter most to healthcare organizations in an ever-evolving industry.

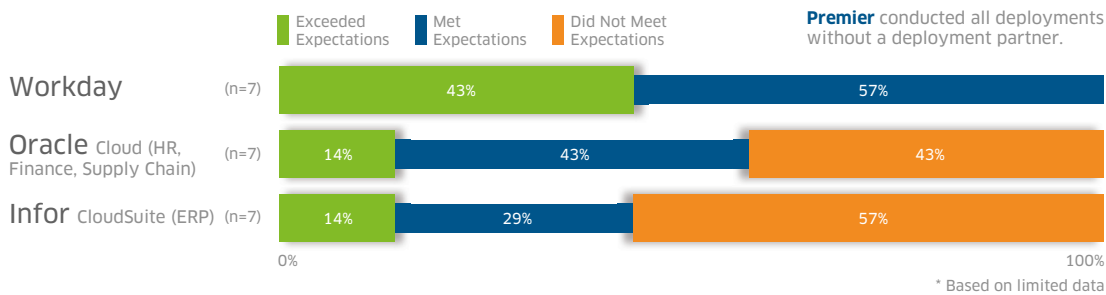

“Workday provides great service. They have exceeded our expectations and continue to do so. They maintained consistent communication with our leaders on the project about how it was progressing. The communication and support were excellent.”

“I would choose the Workday system again...the architecture is very different from the architecture in the other systems that we reviewed prior to making our decision. The main reason that we went with the Workday product was that we saw its potential, flexibility, and versatility.”
